Capacity Building Training Program

KEY INFORMATION

About the Program

Doctoral and post-doctoral research scholars are expected not only to generate sound scientific data but also to convert that data into well-structured, ethically conducted, and effectively communicated research outputs. This 10-day capacity building program is designed to strengthen the complete research competence chain of PhD scholars — from identifying a researchable problem, designing rigorous experiments, and managing data, through to writing, publishing, and building a sustainable research career.

Program Objectives

- To strengthen scholars' ability to identify research gaps and frame precise research questions.
- To build competence in experimental design, data management, and statistical analysis (including R and AI-assisted tools).
- To train scholars in proposal writing, grant applications, and research project management.
- To develop skills in scientific writing, journal selection, and responsible publication practices.
- To create awareness of research ethics, plagiarism, and the peer-review process.
- To guide scholars on diverse career pathways in academia, industry, and government research.

Target Participants: Research Scholars of relevant college/department, SVPUAT, Meerut

Mode of Training: The training will be primarily conducted in offline mode, but specific sessions featuring experts from abroad as well as India will be delivered online. During training program, participants will benefit from enlightening lectures delivered by our expert speaker, providing valuable insights into various topics. Engaging discussions with the speaker will offer a platform for in-depth exploration of key concepts and clarification of doubts. Furthermore, participants will have the opportunity to gain practical experience through online demonstrations on basic search engines, equipping them with essential research tools. Short-term assignments will challenge participants to apply their newfound knowledge.

Process of Application: The numbers of seats are limited. Participants must submit a duly filled application form recommended by the concerned authority provided at the end of this brochure with a signed copy to email hiteshkmr25@gmail.com. Only 25 candidates will be selected for the training program and preference will be given to relevant field. The last date for the submission of the application form is 5/09/2026.

Process of Registration: Registration charges are free
